It is said that in England, the extent of land covered with trees has increased forty thousand acres in the last thirty-five years, and tree planting is encouraged among landholders by liberal premiums.

SALEM, N. C.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1871.

GEO. WALTER SITES, EDITOR.

There is no evil deed committed but its punishment follows upon its heels, and sooner or later, falls. Two years ago, less two months, Gen. Sheridan's troops perpetrated one of the most remorseless butcheries that ever stained the annals of our country. We read from the record: "July 23, 1870; Massacre of the Piegans Indians by Col. Baker's force, under orders from Gen. Sheridan; 173 Indians, including women and children, sick with small-pox, were slaughtered in cold blood, and the Indian village burned." There it is, terrible in its brevity. Old men who could no longer yield a tomahawk, women with nursing babies at their breasts, tender children, stalwart braves—all were roused from their sick couches by the yells of the soldiery, and became the victims of Philip H. Sheridan's swords and bayonets. Now comes the retribution, or a part of it. The people that applauded the bloody deed receive the punishment. These Indians, as the record states, were sick with small-pox, and their blankets, furs, robes and other savage paraphernalia were infected by the disease. But the plunder went on, and among the spoils were these infected buffalo robes. They should have been destroyed, but the cupidity of the red-handed robbers was too strong for that. So they were rolled up and put away, with instructions that they were not to be sold or traded. What next? They were stolen, as is everything else in the Indian country, carried to the Eastern cities, and disposed of. Now the "spotted death" is stalking up and down the land, and the lips that applauded Sheridan's brutal massacre two winters since, are now praying that its punishment shall pass away from them.

So long as the Republican party remains in power, the people need not expect to witness the return of those good old days when "hard money" was the legal tender of the country. The $357,000,000 of "legal tenders" now outstanding, are worth only $317,730,000 in gold. They are all held by the people of this country, and are "by law," and not constitutional law either, the legal currency of the country. The New York Express says "that the Secretary of the Treasury could, if he would, have appreciated these legal tenders to their full value," but, instead of that, he preferred a pecuniary financial operation, which robbed the people of some $50,000,000, and transferred it to the pockets of the bondholders. With $109,000,000 in the Treasury, and $273,000,000 which he paid to the bondholders, on a debt which had still ten years to run, he could before this have resumed specie payment, and once more blessed the eyes of the people with a constitutional currency.

"The administration daily gives evidence of its keen regret over the hold it is losing on the Southern States." Such is the language used by the Washington correspondent of a New York paper to express the disgust of the President and his shallow-pated advisers at the recent elections in Texas, Virginia and Mississippi. In the two former States, radicalism has been effectually stamped out, while in the latter it is receding before the steady advance of Conservative principles, as is amply shown in the marked diminution of the radical majority in the Legislature—76 in the last Legislature, and only 22 now. It is no wonder that the administration feels "keen regret." It had far better stop regretting and go to repenting. Let it give some evidence of its keen remorse for its own arbitrary and sinful conduct, by which it has succeeded in alienating the kindlier sentiments of the Southern people, and driven them, as with whips of scorpions, into the ranks of an implacable opposition.

A correspondent of the Raleigh Sentinel proposes the following amendment, in place of Section 2, Art. VI of the State Constitution.

No person shall be allowed to vote at any election in this State, unless he has paid in full his State and county taxes, in the county where he resides for the year next preceding the year in which he desires to vote, or has a certificate from the county commissioners of said county, that he is exempt from the payment of taxes, and before depositing his ballot, he shall produce his tax receipt, or certificate of exemption, and a person appointed for the purpose shall endorse thereon "noted," and also the date of election.

The above contains some good points, which were they to be incorporated in a general election law to be enacted by the Legislature, would serve to prevent much fraudulent voting, especially in the eastern counties, some of which are now controlled by an ignorant, corrupt and unreliable population. We would prefer, however, that the section above referred to be not stricken from the Constitution. It is harmless, and it places upon the General Assembly certain duties which by right belong to that body.

We ask our friend of the Battleboro Advance if he does not, upon reflection, think it is almost too soon for us to be picking out our best materials, and showing them to the radicals? It is only giving those gentry an opportunity to smear them with a little mud, long before there is any necessity for us to expose them to insult.

Judge Cloud has been commissioned by the Governor, to open a special term of Superior Court for Rowan county, on the first Monday in January next, for the trial of civil cases only.

The Raleigh Sentinel very properly ridicules the idea that if the radical party should again secure the ascendancy in this State, it will "be managed by new and honest men," and asks where they are to come from? Sure enough, where are they to come from? The radical party of today is the self-same party it was two or three years ago, and is controlled by the same men, with the exception of a few who have fallen from the State to avoid punishment for their crimes. Even some of these are still impressing their baleful influence upon the management of the radical party in North Carolina. Look at Holden, for instance, whom some radicals say the party is rid of; yet there he sits in Washington city, in the editorial chair of the leading radical journal of the country, assisting to shape the policy to which the radicals of this State as of all other States, must dance, or be excommunicated. Are not his editorial paragraphs eagerly caught up and reprinted by the radical press of this State week after week? To be sure they are, and yet these same radicals talk of having rid themselves of the influence of the bad men of their party, and that they will hereafter be led by "new and honest men." Who and where are these individuals? They have not yet been heard of by any one. Where are they to come from? Certainly not out of the ranks of the radical party, for that party is the same old party of fraud and corruption which disgraced North Carolina so long, and plundered her beyond all previous conception, in 1868, '69 and '70. Of all the recent perverts to that party, Col. Hanes is the only one of any prominence, and surely radicalism does not hope to build up a new reputation on his honesty and integrity of purpose. If it does it errs greatly, for it will take the stock in trade of more than one good man to prop up the sinking fortunes of a concern which has not only its own infamies to carry, but also the iniquities of a national administration which winked when these infamies were committed, and patting the perpetrators approvingly. No, the radical party is "the same old seven-and-six," with the same leaders, and they will have to go down into Jordan seven times before they get all the rascality out of them. They have only been down into that river once—in 1870—and are as full of leprosy as ever.

Among the most gratifying events which could happen, would be the defeat of Senator Sherman, of Ohio, and now it seems likely that this will occur. The Legislative canvass in Ohio last October was carried on by the Republicans with a special eye to the re-election of Sherman to the U. S. Senate, and Grant threw the whole weight of the administration in his favor. There were, however, a large number of anti-Sherman, or Conservative Republicans elected to the Legislature in spite of Grant and his office-holding cohorts. Present indications point to a coalition between these Conservative Republicans and the Democrats, in order to elect Ex-Secretary of the Interior, Jacob D. Cox, to the Senate. The elements to effect this combination are known to be at work with strong hopes of success, and the consent of Mr. Cox will not be withheld when it is of the Conservative Republicanism which some of the Western political leaders expect to fuse with the Democracy in the next Presidential canvass. The defeat of Sherman would be a staggering blow to the radicals, while the election of Cox would be a grand Conservative victory—a victory plucked from defeat.

Well, the Grand Duke of Muscovy, who was to have arrived, has not yet made his illustrious appearance, and New York sits in the sulks, sucking her dainty fingers. The grand dinner that was prepared for His High Mightiness and all the Little Mightinesses that waddle in his train, "wit sauce, ragouts, an' sic like trash," "That little short o' downright wastrie," turned out to be "wastrie" sure enough, for it was kept until it spoiled on the caterer's hands, and now that interesting individual has the audacity to want to know who is going to pay for his moulded provisions. Just as if anybody was going to pay for a dinner which nobody ate, and which the caterer might just as well have eaten himself—by installments—if he had not been so foolishly reliant on wind, weather, and other people. But, dinner, or no dinner, the Grand Duke ought not to keep New York snoring any longer in suspense. They have not had a royal or imperial idol to fall down before and worship, since the English scapegraces were here, and the kind of shoddy men are now aching for another slavish genuflection, while the shoddy women are burning with emulation as to which of them shall first kiss the dirt-off "His Highness' knuckles. Hurry up, O most illustrious Alexis.

There is news from "across the salt, salt sea," that the health of Queen Victoria has wonderfully improved, and, in consequence, all proposals for a partial Regency have been abandoned. The idea that her crown was in danger of passing from her, seems to have acted as a most miraculous tonic to the royal matron, and brought her wits about her in a hurry. And so the aspiring Albert Edward must dismiss the rosy hope that whispered to him of a sceptre so nearly within his reach, and of the lots of cash that would accompany it. All hail! Queen Vic.

Says the Charlotte Democrat: "Virginia has gone Democratic by 20,000 majority. Virginia accepted the situation two years ago—look an honest Northern man and run him for Governor, and beat the Radicals overwhelmingly. Her people went to work to get enough votes from the Republican party to secure the election of good men instead of quarreling about dead issues, or whining about such obsolete ideas as Constitutional rights."

The Legislature convened on Monday next, 20th inst., and are hastening to the capital.

We agree with the Charlotte Democrat in his remarks that there are important duties which ought to be done promptly, and an early adjournment effected. There is no time to spare for mere speech-making and quarrelling, and there is no money in the Treasury to pay the per diem of members while engaged in such unprofitable business.

Besides framing and passing Constitutional amendments, for the action of the next Legislature, agreeably to the Constitution, the present Legislature should abolish certain offices, and where the offices cannot be abolished because established by the Constitution, the salaries ought to be withdrawn from them. While, continues the Democrat, the people are heavily burdened with corporations, towns, county, State and Federal taxes, they ought to be saved the expense of such useless offices as State Geologist, Superintendent of Public Works, Adjutant General, and also the salaries of several doorkeepers, pages and hangers-on about the capitol.

Members should also reduce their own pay to three dollars per day, and ten cents per mile for mileage; and this ought to be done at once without any fuss or speech-making on the subject. This per diem of members is one of the things that the people distinctly understand, and the demand for its reduction.

The Conservative party cannot go before the people with a good grace next summer unless its representatives exhaust their powers in the curtailment of expenses. The advice of the hot-heads and inexperienced has already done much harm, and it must now be discarded and conservative counsels adopted. Conservative members must practice what they preach, and give the people some readily appreciable proof that they have so practised.

Holden's paper, the Washington organ of the administration, endeavors to cast ridicule upon the warnings which the Conservative and Democratic journals are addressing to the people, in regard to the imperial tendencies of the administration policy, and says: "There are none of the ensigns of imperial power in Washington. * * * But there is power at the centre, and we are glad of it."

And with all powers of government "at the centre," with the States reduced practically to mere provinces, with the liberties of the citizen subject to the caprices of the Executive, with a partisan and corrupt judiciary ready to pervert the law in the interests of power, with an army of spies and detectives crawling all over the land, with millions of gold wrong from the people to purchase the support of venal presses and orators, with an army whose leading officers laugh at the republican dogma that the military should be subject to the civil power, with a government drawing their life-blood from the pockets of the people, with a consolidated and centralized treasury, with a consolidated and centralized army, with a consolidated and centralized navy, with a consolidated and centralized foreign policy, with a consolidated and centralized system of taxation, with a consolidated and centralized system of justice, with a consolidated and centralized system of education, with a consolidated and centralized system of religion, with a consolidated and centralized system of everything, the ensigns of imperial power are everywhere in Washington, and every man in the country who is not a mighty Roman strangled the inheritance of his country, he still refused the crown, and aped the simplicity of the citizen; and it was not until after years, and the enervated and corrupted populace had become accustomed to the iron hand, that the Cæsars assumed the outward insignia of imperial pomp and power. Even in our own nineteenth century, the first Napoleon wore the republican, but delusive title of "consul," and firmly held the liberties of the French for four years under his military heel, before the fatal flower of his ambition fully unfolded to the gaze of the startled nations, and he dared to mount a throne, proclaiming himself a "republican emperor"—the sovereign, not of France, but of the French people!

Here are twin lessons; let them be coned and remembered.

If Judge Settle is coming home, as reported, from that eruptive country, Peru, he had better come quickly. There is going to be "war times" out there, and the Judge is constitutionally opposed to fighting—that is, in war times. Besides, small pox is raging in Peru, and especially in Lima where the Judge has his residence. Wrap up your $10,000 gold salary in some old rags, see that they are stout and strong enough, and hurry along, Judge. Never mind if the small-pox is playing some mad pranks in New York just now, where you will probably land. You can readily avoid contagion by having yourself sealed up in an iron case, properly marked and labelled, before you leave the ship. Then, when you reach home—you and the $10,000 gold—everything will be lovely, for you will be sure not to give Gov. Caldwell, or any of the small fry, any trouble, when the radical nominating convention next spring shall be looking out for a suitable gubernatorial candidate.

The radical papers of this state are as happy as clams at high water. A "Klux" outrage, alleged to have been committed in July last, has been unearthed in Yancey county, and the perpetrators have been arrested. If the story, as told by the radical papers, is true, the villains deserve to be hung; but we are not disposed to accept ex parte statements from sources which are busily engaged just now in piling up outrage after outrage, true or untrue, for political effect upon Congress this winter and upon the elections next summer.

The November Elections.

Now that we have a clearer view of the fields upon which the recent contests were fought, we are gratified at being able to inform our friends that the Conservatives and Democrats have, in reality, lost nothing, but in some States, made important gains. New York, of course, is lost for the present, but all parties declare that the result in that State cannot be considered in the light of a party victory or defeat. There was an uprising of honest men of all parties to destroy the Tammany organization which had fallen into the hands of swindlers, both Democratic and Republican. Tammany was crushed; the thieves dispersed, and the Democratic party will be found next year, stronger than ever before.

As for the other States, the following resume from the New York World will furnish all the latest information:

In New Jersey Governor Parker's majority is more than 5,000. The Republican majority on Congressmen last year was over 3,000, which shows a Democratic gain on the popular vote of over 8,000. The State is so distracted in favor of the Republicans that the Legislature does not fairly represent the political sentiment of the people. It is Republican in both branches, as it was last year.

The total vote in Massachusetts for Governor puts up in round numbers: Washburn, Republican, 75,000; Adams, Democrat, 48,000; Chamberlain, Labor Reform, 7,000; Pittman, Temperance, 6,500—a majority for the Republican over the Democratic candidate of 27,000, and over all of 13,500. Last year Claflin's majority over Adams was over 31,000, and over all 9,000. It will be seen, therefore, that the Democrats stand relatively a little better than last year. They have also made a handsome gain in the House of Representatives. Last year they elected 34 members, this year 50. The Labor Reformers are nearly wiped out, for they will have but two representatives in the new House.

In Virginia the Conservatives have achieved a brilliant and almost overwhelming victory. Their popular majority in the legislative vote will not be less than 30,000—a gain of more than 20,000 over the Congressional vote of last year. They will have a two-thirds majority in both Houses of the Legislature.

The Republicans were confident of making heavy gains in Maryland, and even indulged the hope of carrying the State. But nearly complete returns give the Democracy the State by 14,000 majority against 19,000 majority last year—a loss, but not more serious than that of the Republicans in Massachusetts. The Republicans succeeded in electing ten representatives and one Senator in the Legislature. There were large Democratic gains in the legislative elections in Mississippi, and the Democrats made but a feeble show, and in some counties no contests whatever. The last estimate made at Jackson gives the Democrats 59 Representatives, 15 Senators, reducing the Republican majority on joint ballot from 74 to 25.

From about half of the counties the results of the vote for Congressman are shown that the Republican majority was about the same as last year—perhaps a few thousand less. All the Republican holds in the north part of the State are held from. The Republican State on Grant's majority in the House of Representatives. The Republicans are at work on the consolidation and centralization of the government treasury, with a consolidated and centralized army, with a consolidated and centralized navy, with a consolidated and centralized foreign policy, with a consolidated and centralized system of taxation, with a consolidated and centralized system of justice, with a consolidated and centralized system of education, with a consolidated and centralized system of religion, with a consolidated and centralized system of everything, the ensigns of imperial power are everywhere in Washington, and every man in the country who is not a mighty Roman strangled the inheritance of his country, he still refused the crown, and aped the simplicity of the citizen; and it was not until after years, and the enervated and corrupted populace had become accustomed to the iron hand, that the Cæsars assumed the outward insignia of imperial pomp and power. Even in our own nineteenth century, the first Napoleon wore the republican, but delusive title of "consul," and firmly held the liberties of the French for four years under his military heel, before the fatal flower of his ambition fully unfolded to the gaze of the startled nations, and he dared to mount a throne, proclaiming himself a "republican emperor"—the sovereign, not of France, but of the French people!

The New York Observer.

Those who wish to take a religious paper, sound in its principles and fearless in the advocacy of the truth—which at the same time has a department of Secular News, and expresses freely its views on public affairs, maintaining the right and denouncing corruption wherever it is found—will find it in the New York Observer.

The publishers announce that it will enter upon its Jubilee Year in 1872, and that the event will be signalized by the issue of a New Year-Book, and encyclopedia of information and statistics in regard to the Church, and civil and business affairs, such as can be gathered only from an extensive Library. This will be sent free to every subscriber to the paper. Copies of the Observer and a Prospectus of the Year-Book sent free to every one who will apply. New subscribers will receive the paper free until January 1st.

RESIGNED.—We notice by the Washington papers that Collector of Internal Revenue S. H. Wiley, of the sixth North Carolina District, has resigned. It is rumored that Dr. J. J. Mott, of Catawba Station, will be appointed in his place.

The grand jury of the Federal Court in Washington city has found bills of indictment against W. B. Stokes, ex-Member of Congress from Tennessee, and Victor G. Powell, late of the Second Auditor's Office for defrauding the government of a large sum by false bounty claims.

The German steamer Franklin arrived at New York on the 13th inst., with a large number of Cholera cases on board. During the voyage from Settin, there had been nearly 100 cases and about 40 deaths among the steerage passengers.

A despatch to the New York World dated London, 13th inst., says that a plot of Bonapartist Generals, headed by Marshal Fleury, to seize the person of Thiers, and proclaim the Empire, has been discovered. The papers of the conspirators are in the possession of M. Thiers, who is confident of the failure of the conspiracy.

The colored members of the South Carolina Legislature held a caucus last week, in which it was resolved to make no appropriation this coming session for the payment of the interest on the State debt, and declared themselves in favor of the repudiation of both the old and new debt of the State.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

LOCAL ITEMS.

FORSYTH SUPERIOR COURT.—On Monday last our Superior Court began, but business did not get fairly under way until next day. Up to the present writing the Court has been engaged in the trial of State cases, and the docket will probably not be gotten through with until tomorrow. The civil docket will likely consume the whole of next week.

Judge Cannon presides with dignity, courtesy, impartiality, and most wonderful patience. He has won golden opinions from the bar of this Circuit, all of whom concur in pronouncing him a fair and honest Judge. Even our citizens, who have not had much confidence in their Judges of late years, seem to look upon Judge Cannon as an exception to the general rule. Those of our contemporaries who place His Honor among the few who are a disgrace to the bench, are evidently not acquainted with him, and speak after the manner of partisans whose jaundiced eyes see no good in anything that has come from Nazareth.

The number of visiting lawyers in attendance at this Court, is quite large; among them we notice Hon. A. M. Scates, of Rockingham; Hon. J. M. Leach, M. H. Pinnix and J. H. Wilburn, of Davidson; W. M. Robbins and J. M. McCorkle, of Rowan; Col. Jno. A. Gilmer, Col. Jas. Morehead, Levi Scott, Jno. W. Staples, Cyrus P. Mondenhall and Jos. Morehead, of Guilford; A. N. Smith, of Yadkin; Jno. F. Graves, of Surry; W. W. King, of Stokes, and R. D. Scates, of Davie.

NEW SHOE FACTORY.—Our young friend, Mr. Charles Helt, having purchased the machinery recently in use by Mr. E. A. Vogler, has established himself in Salem, in the manufacture of Shoes. Charles is a very clever, go-ahead young man, and we trust his enterprise will prove successful in every way. We understand that he has a market at home here, for every shoe that he can make with his present force and conveniences. Should, however, the demand for his manufactures warrant him in so doing, he can readily increase his facilities. There is no earthly reason why North Carolina should not manufacture all the shoes sold within her borders; she will yet do it, and for all we know, Mr. Belo's unpretending commencement may be the germ of a factory as large and productive as any that Massachusetts can boast of.

Among the friends who found leisure to call upon us this week, were A. N. Smith, Esq., of Yadkin, and W. W. King, Esq., of Stokes. This is the first time that Mr. Smith has attended our Court. We hope to see him here with each successive term, and are confident that he will become quite popular with our citizens.

WHO CAN THEY BE?—The Norfolk Virginian of the 9th inst., says that on the previous morning, a lady with three small children, visited the Mayor of that city with a pitiful story of desertion and desolation. Her husband had left her with money, and in debt for board, and she subsequently turned out of her boarding-house. The family are from Davidson county, N. C., but have been living at Elizabeth City for some time. The Mayor supplied the immediate wants of the distressed applicant and made arrangements to send her, with her little ones, back to Elizabeth City.

POST-OFFICES DISCONTINUED.—The post-offices at Flat Branch, Forsyth county, Benajah, Rockingham county, Simonton's Mills, Iredell county, and Elkville, Wilkes county, have been discontinued.

So far as the office at Flat Branch is concerned, it has not been in operation since its establishment about a year ago. The postmaster then appointed could not take the oath, or refused the office, or something of the kind, and none was ever appointed in his place.

GONE TO TESTIFY.—Chief Justice Pearson passed through Salem on Saturday last, on his way to Raleigh, he having been summoned to appear before the Commission appointed by the Legislature to inquire into the frauds and corruptions practiced in this State by the men who had control of it from the spring of 1868 to the summer of 1870. We hardly suspect that Judge Pearson knows anything personally in regard to these frauds.

BURNED TO DEATH.—A sad accident happened in the neighborhood of Bethanien, on Monday morning, 30th ult., by which a little daughter of Mr. Jesse Butner met her death. The father was absent at his occupation in the saw-mill, and the mother had gone to the spring for water. When the latter returned she found the clothing of the little one nearly burned off, and her body so badly burned that the child survived only about two hours.

MURDER IN WILKES.—We learn that on the 31st ult., a terrible affair occurred in Wilkes county. Constant Gray and William Matthews, near relatives, had quarrelled about some trivial matter, whereupon Gray drew his knife and cut the throat of Matthews in such a shocking manner that he expired in a few minutes. The murderer then fled, and up to our latest accounts, had not been apprehended.

The storm which visited us on Tuesday, and drenched our streets, appears to have been very violent in eastern Carolina and especially on the coast. Many disasters at sea have probably happened, and will soon be reported.

Judge Pearson returned from Raleigh on Thursday morning, and reported everything "calm and lovely" at the capital.

THE RICHEST JOKE OF THE SEASON.

Billy Henderson, Henry Waler and that crowd, trying to cook up a case against Hon. James M. Leach for Ku Klux conspiracy! Why, the General can give them a dozen points in that game and beat them. If there is a man in the State pre-eminently persistent in his hostility to all secret political combinations in these disturbed times, that man is James M. Leach.

We understand that a little girl was so severely burned last Friday afternoon, at Starbuck's place near town, by her clothes taking fire at the kitchen hearth, that she died in a few hours. We have no further particulars, but learn that the little victim was interred on Sunday.

STATE ITEMS.

The Jefferson, Ashe county, Messenger says that a Mr. Williams, who had been employed in the vicinity of North Fork building a mill, has been missing since the 4th inst. He had left North Fork to be absent for a few days, and was to have returned on the 4th. His horse was found in the road with saddle and bridle on, but his rider could not be heard of. Some two hundred men assembled and a search was instituted for the missing man, but without avail. A quantity of blood was found in an old building in the neighborhood, and it is thought he has been murdered, as he was known to possess a considerable amount of money.

On Monday of last week, the Iredell County Agricultural, Manufacturing and Mechanics Association was organized, by the election of the following officers: President, Dr. Hugh Kelly; Vice Presidents, Thos. A. Watt, E. Hayne Davis, John Davidson, Isaac Harris, J. W. Williams, C. T. Tomlin, Peter Little, P. B. Chambers, G. F. Shepherd, A. C. Sharpe, C. L. Shin, John Setzer, R. I. McDowell, J. Hervey Stevenson; Treasurer, P. C. Carlton; Secretary, E. B. Drake.

It is authoritatively stated, says the Shelby Banner, that "Balt" Carpenter, a $20 lawyer of Rutherfordton, has opened a little court of his own, and is making money hand over fist. Persons having kindred and friends in jail at Rutherfordton, can have them released by paying "Balt" a few dollars. We learn that he has extorted $1,500 from the citizens of this and Rutherford counties last week.

The Raleigh Carolinian tells the following tough story on Lowry, the Robeson county outlaw. This gallant Knight of the bush recently captured a freight train and compelled the Conductor to "carouse" with him in a bar room near at hand. After the spree was over he allowed the train to proceed unmolested, and all hands unharmed, except the Conductor, who complained of being "drowsy" like.

During the debate on the work of missionaries, at the present session of the Baptist Convention, says the Charlotte Observer, we were not a little surprised to hear one of the Elders say that among other things he had to contend against, was a strong spirit of Mormonism in Surry county, and that a company of over a hundred had started for Salt Lake City.

The colored people of Newberne have made an early move looking to the celebration of the ensuing first day of January next, as the anniversary of their emancipation. If they could only be made to understand what is best for them, they would keep fewer holidays, and do a little more work.

The Penitentiary Board met in Raleigh on the 10th inst., but the only business of importance transacted was the condemning of all the brick used in the construction of the work within the enclosure, including that already in the walls which are now about six feet high.

The Salisbury Watchman says: "Mr. Hellig showed us a photograph of a negro, raised in 1870, and kept perfectly sound. He kept them away in boxes with chaff, and kept them in a cool, dry basement."

Mr. Bryan Hussey, of New Hanover, is supposed to have been drowned on Saturday week, at Cunniff Bluff, some 25 miles above Wilmington. When last seen he was somewhat intoxicated, and it is thought he got into the river by some means while in that condition.

The Raleigh Sentinel of Tuesday says: We saw on Fayetteville street on yesterday morning the disgusting sight of two women carrying off a drunken man to keep him out of the clutches of the police. The trio were from the country, and consisted of a husband, wife and daughter.

The Cape Fear river seems to have a special spite against colored people. Another negro was drowned in it, at one of its tributaries, Black river, on Thursday of last week, by falling between two flats. The body was recovered.

The Carolinian says that Calvin O'Brien, Esq., was on Friday last, bound in a bond of $1,000 to appear at the next Federal Court, for alleged violation of the Revenue laws.

A colored man, George Gay, from Massachusetts, steward of the brig R. S. Haswell, was drowned in Wilmington on the 9th inst., by falling through a hole in the wharf, caused by a plank having been torn up.

Three colored women were arrested in Raleigh on last Friday night, "for loitering around bar-rooms." They were held in custody for a short time, and then discharged with an admonition to stay at home and attend to their business.

The Asheville Pioneer regrets to learn that in the counties of Cherokee, Macon and Jackson, the cattle are dying very rapidly. The mortality among them is attributed to the unusual amount of bitter mast which they have eaten.

A few nights since, Mr. W. P. Osbourn of Asheville accompanied by Jesse Williams, went out opossum hunting. In that one night they captured nineteen of these animals, the smallest of which weighed four pounds and upwards. The Pioneer wants to know if anybody can beat it.

Mr. Massiter, residing near the Falls of Neuse, Wake county, was found dead in his bed on the morning of the 9th inst. He had been in ill-health.

A little son of Capt. W. G. McNeely, of Salisbury, had his lower jaw fractured, one evening last week, by a kick from a vicious horse near which he happened to be walking.

A colony of Italians, says the Carolinian, is settling on a tract of land adjoining Mr. Bennett, on the Hillsboro road, seven miles from Raleigh. They will cultivate the grape.

Granville county has 52 tobacco factories in operation; Orange, 13; Wake, 4; Franklin, 3; Warren, 3, and Nash, 1.

The Evening Heartstone.
Gladly now we gather round it.
For the toiling day is done,
And the gray and solemn twilight
Falls down the golden sun.
Shadows lengthen on the pavement,
Stalk like giants through the gloom,
Wander past the dusky casement,
Creep around the firelight room.
Draw the curtain, close the shutters,
Place the slippers by the fire;
Though the wind loudly mutters,
What care we for wind-spits' ire?
What care we for outward seeming?
Fickle fortune's frown or smile?
If around us love is beaming,
Love can human ills beguile!
Neath the cottage roof and palace,
From the peasant to the king,
All are quaffing from life's chalice
Bubbles that enchantment bring.
Grates are glowing music flowing
From the lips who love the best;
Oh, the joy the bliss of knowing
There are hearts whereon to rest!
Hearts that throbb with eager gladness—
Hearts that echo to our own—
While grim care and haunting sadness
Mingle ne'er in look or tone.
Care may tread the halls of daylight,
Sadness haunt the midnight hour.
But the world and waking twilight
Bring the glowing heartstone's power.
Alar of our holiest feelings!
Childhood's well-remembered shrine;
Spirits earnings—soul-revelings—
Wreaths immortal round the twine.

CUNDURANGO!
THE WONDERFUL REMEDY FOR
Cancer, Syphilis, Scrophulous Ulcers, Sore Throat and all other diseases.
Dr. P. T. KEENE, having just returned from Ecuador and brought with him a quantity of the genuine Cundurango Bark, secured through the official recommendation and assistance of His Excellency the President of Ecuador, and the Government of that Republic, we are prepared to fill orders for it to a limited extent, and at a price about one-quarter of that which the cost of the first very small supply compelled us to charge.
A Spanish article is now advertised and sold as Cundurango. We have, at a considerable expense, and with the co-operation of the authorities of Loja, the province where the plant grows, so directed the channel of our supply as to ensure that none but the genuine article shall be sold by us; and we particularly call the attention of the public, for their protection, to this fact.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,
For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.
A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a
